

INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC LAW
GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY LAW CENTER

Systemic Risk in the Global Economy

Co-sponsored with the Securities & Financial Law Organization (SFLO)

Georgetown Law

Tuesday, April 19, 2016

Speaker Biographies

Christopher J. Brummer

Chris Brummer is a Professor of Law and the Faculty Director of Georgetown's Institute of International Economic Law. Prior to joining Georgetown's faculty with tenure in 2009, Brummer was an Assistant Professor of Law at Vanderbilt Law School. He has also been a Visiting Professor at several leading universities, including the Universities of Basel, Heidelberg, and the London School of Economics.

Chris Brummer earned his J.D. from Columbia Law School, where he graduated with honors, and he holds a Ph.D. in Germanic Studies from the University of Chicago. Before becoming a law professor, Brummer practiced law in the New York and London offices of Cravath, Swaine & Moore LLP. In 2011, he joined the Washington offices of the Milken Institute, where he is a Senior Fellow. Subsequently in 2012, he was awarded the C. Boyden Gray Fellowship for Global Finance and Growth at the Atlantic Council, where Brummer launched the think tank's Transatlantic Finance Initiative.

Kathleen M. Hutchinson

Kathleen Hutchinson is an Assistant Director for Regulatory Policy in the Office of International Affairs (OIA) at the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). In this capacity, Kathleen provides analysis, advice, and guidance to the Commission and SEC senior staff on international issues in various subject areas, and participates in international task forces and U.S. interagency efforts regarding issues related to international capital markets.

Kathleen joined the SEC's Office of Compliance Inspections and Examinations in 2003, where she conducted audits of the regulatory programs of national stock exchanges and the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority. She joined OIA in 2008 and since then, has served as Senior Counsel, Branch Chief for International Regulatory Policy, Senior Special Counsel for Supervisory Cooperation, and Senior Special Counsel for Regulatory Policy.

Prior to joining the SEC, Kathleen was an Associate at Friedman, Wittenstein and Hochman, a litigation law firm in New York City. Kathleen also worked at the Irish American Unity Conference, a non-profit organization that supported the peaceful resolution of the conflict in Northern Ireland.

Kathleen graduated cum laude from the American University's Washington College of Law with a Juris Doctor, and the School of International Service with a Masters in International Affairs. She completed her undergraduate studies at Binghamton University and the London School of Economics.

Michael H. Krimminger

Michael Krimminger is a partner based in the Washington, DC office of Cleary Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton LLP. Mr. Krimminger advises domestic and international banking and financial institutions on the challenges and opportunities stemming from global statutory and regulatory reforms, as well as a variety of restructuring and insolvency-related matters.

Mr. Krimminger joined Cleary Gottlieb in 2012 after serving for more than two decades in numerous leadership positions with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), including most recently as its General Counsel. As General Counsel, he served as the principal legal and policy advisor to the Chairman and Board of Directors regarding the legislative development and later implementation of the Dodd-Frank Act, including its SIFI resolution, living wills, capital markets and capital, and structured finance requirements.

Mr. Krimminger's international experience includes serving as the co-chair of the Basel Committee's Cross Border Resolutions Group and representing the FDIC on the Financial Stability Board's Resolution Steering Group. He has played a central role in bilateral and multilateral discussions with regulators around the world on legal reform, resolution planning, capital and liquidity requirements, and strategies for implementation of financial market reforms for derivatives and other financial market contracts.

Mr. Krimminger received a J.D., with Distinction, from Duke University School of Law in 1982, where he served on the Editorial Board of the Duke Law Journal. He received an undergraduate degree, Phi Beta Kappa, from the University of North Carolina in 1979.

Mr. Krimminger is a member of the Bars in California, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Matthew P. Reed

Matthew Reed is Chief Counsel for the Office of Financial Research (OFR), U.S. Department of the Treasury. He also is Chairman of the Regulatory Oversight Committee of the global Legal Entity Identifier system, a committee of more than 50 authorities from around the globe overseeing a new system of financial entity identification.

Previously, Mr. Reed was a senior lawyer at the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), where he held a range of positions, including overseeing legal issues for the SEC's interactive data-filing program and serving as Deputy for the Chairman's initiative to use technology to transform financial disclosures and reporting. Mr. Reed also was a lead investigator in an SEC case involving Enron Corp.'s attorneys and was an advisor to an SEC Commissioner. His previous public service work included positions as an advisor to a United States senator and lead trial counsel on dozens of cases for the United States Department of Justice. Reed graduated with high honors from the George Mason School of Law.

William J. Sweet, Jr.

William J. Sweet, Jr. is a Partner with Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP and Head of the firm's Financial Institutions Regulation and Enforcement Group. Mr. Sweet concentrates in financial institution merger and acquisition, regulatory, and enforcement matters. Before joining the firm, he was a staff attorney with the Federal Reserve Board, where he handled bank holding company regulatory, litigation and enforcement matters.

Mr. Sweet represents U.S., Asian, European and Latin American banking, securities and other financial institutions and their boards of directors on the strategic, policy and regulatory aspects of mergers and acquisitions, negotiated investments, joint ventures, restructuring transactions, bankruptcies and receiverships. He also advises private equity firms and others seeking to invest in regulated financial institutions. In addition, Mr. Sweet regularly advises financial institutions on compliance and enforcement issues with respect to a broad range of governance, risk management, money laundering compliance, Office of Foreign Assets Control sanctions, fair lending, consumer, CRA and other matters, including representation before federal and state regulatory and enforcement agencies.

Mr. Sweet represents financial institutions before the Financial Stability Oversight Council, the Federal Reserve Board, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), the United States Department of the Treasury and other financial regulatory agencies on a wide range of rulings, interpretations and approvals.

Mr. Sweet has represented clients on various aspects of federal lending, capital and liquidity support programs, including those established pursuant to the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008. In addition, he has advised investors, banks and thrifts on the acquisition of depository institutions and assets from the FDIC. Mr. Sweet also advises clients on the implementation of the Dodd-Frank Act and on strategic transactional and compliance responses to the act.

Mr. Sweet is a member of the DC Bar. He received his J.D. from Georgetown Law in 1978, and his B.A. from Bucknell University, in 1974.

Reception to Follow ♦ Sponsored by

The logo for Skadden, consisting of the word "Skadden" in white serif font on a red rectangular background.